Kathy Crowther’s creative formula combines her love of nature – and its exacting details – with a fascination for geometric designs. “To capture nature’s emotion with paper and paint is my passion. Painting has made me more aware of my surroundings and the amazing details of color, shape, and texture that encircle us all. Nature’s bounty and all its wonders are the soul of my work.”

My paintings range from formal portraits of egrets, herons, and peacocks to whimsical renderings of parrots, sea turtles, and ocean creatures with paisley borders and brilliant color combinations that add freshness to the subjects.
